
CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS v. DELAGE

This case is reported ante, p. 682.

The judgment of the Court of King's Bench was varied by the Supreme Court of Canada by reducing the amount of damages from $10,000 to $7,826, on the ground taken by Howard J., dissenting judge in the appellate court, that the trial judge had misdirected himself as to two items of the damages.
